Axway B2Bi Enterprise Edition puts you on the path to platform modernization

Meet your business objectives, whether through classic or containerized deployments

Axway is a comprehensive business solutions company with core products that meet the current, legacy, and emergent demands in business data integration, from B2B integration and managed file transfer (MFT) to API management and open finance.

Nothing epitomizes this more than Axway's B2Bi Enterprise Edition: a premium package of B2Bi software options for companies looking for solutions to their mission-critical B2B integration needs. It includes architectural options that deliver the highest value possible with our software:

- Classic clustering options if you're installing traditional software on virtual machines (VMs)
- Containerized deployments if you are investing in a more flexible, container-ready environment

Deployment options and capabilities to meet your objectives

Whether you choose a classic B2Bi deployment route or want to supplement with the powerful security, business agility, and high availability of containers, B2Bi Enterprise Edition has you covered.
